

The King's University offers an exceptional liberal arts education from a Christian perspective. Located in Edmonton, Alberta, King's serves students from across Canada and around the world. Join a dedicated team who have a desire and common mission to see students grow in a dynamic and nurturing Christian environment. People who love working and succeed at King's serve God gladly, work collaboratively, think creatively, and embrace diversity.

Faculty Position: Psychology

Tenure Track (Full Time)

POSITION SUMMARY

The Faculty of Social Science at The King's University invites applications for a full-time, tenure track appointment in our 4-year BSc Psychology program, beginning August 1, 2025. Our new BSc Psychology program builds on our successful BA Psychology programs and offers students a rich and rigorous study in psychology with an emphasis on its relationship to human physiology. The program will serve BSc psychology majors, BA psychology students and BSc biology students by adding courses in biopsychology, neuropsychology, or psychopharmacology. We are committed to creating a vibrant BSc Psychology program at King's that fosters the inclusion of diverse perspectives and voices and that includes the voices of marginalized people.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES

The ideal candidates will bring with them a dedication to excellence in teaching and in research. Candidates will demonstrate an ability to teach a variety of courses in psychology, including topics such as growth and development, biopsychology, neuropsychology, or psychopharmacology. The successful candidate will have an innovative and active program of research with the ability to incorporate advanced undergraduate students into their research projects. Responsibilities include:

- Teaching the equivalent of 6 courses per year in undergraduate programming
- Engagement in an on-going scholarly research program
- On-going service to the Psychology department, the Faculty of Social Science, and the greater university community and external stakeholders
- Creating connections and developing relationships with students through advising, research supervision, and mentoring

The successful candidate will demonstrate a growing and evolving ability to articulate the connection between psychology and the Christian faith. Their approach would welcome diverse students and colleagues into a shared project of understanding our society and our times in the light of core faith commitments and values.

The successful candidate will have a solid grounding in quantitative or qualitative approaches to scholarly research and will welcome the opportunity to work in an interdisciplinary and collegial environment that also values autonomy and scholarly development.

The successful candidate is required to hold a Ph.D. or equivalent in Psychology or a related field (e.g. Neuroscience, Cognitive Science, Medicine). Candidates who are close to Ph.D. completion are encouraged to apply; the appointment will be contingent upon the completion of the Ph.D. by an agreed-upon date.

The King's University is a Christian liberal arts university offering three and four-year Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees, a Bachelor of Commerce, a Bachelor of Music, and a two-year after-degree Bachelor of Education (Elementary and Secondary) accredited by the province of Alberta. The University is a member of Universities Canada and of the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities. Faculty members at The King's University are eligible for and are currently receiving Tri-Council funding. The faculty at The King's University are recognized for involving undergraduate students in their scholarship, with some faculty members having obtained external funding.

A condition of employment is assent to the University's Christian Statement of Faith found at:

<https://www.kingsu.ca/about-us/careers>

The King's University follows a standardized salary grid. The salary range is $67,500 - $84,500/yr dependent on qualifications and experience. A comprehensive benefit package, pension, and generous vacation and time off are provided.

Position will remain open until a suitable candidate is found.

Apply by submitting a CV and cover letter through our online portal at kingsu.ca/about-us/careers.

Human Resources

The King's University
9125-50 Street, Edmonton, Alberta
T6B 2H3

E-mail: humanresources@kingsu.ca. Visit our web site at www.kingsu.ca.

We appreciate all applicants for considering The King's University as a potential employer, however, only those considered for an interview will be contacted.

The King's University respects, appreciates, and encourages diversity. We welcome applications from all qualified individuals including members of visible minorities, Indigenous, First Nations, Metis, and Inuit peoples and persons with disabilities. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.